

Ideas, solutions and networks
for Social Good

SocialFare®

Center for Social Innovation

is the very first center of its kind established in Italy. It hosts various skills and diversified know-how to design, develop and scale new ideas, networks and solutions for social good.

Focus areas

Social design, social technology, social entrepreneurship, development of social brands, ethnographic research, service and product design are our core activities together with national and international partners.

- We believe that social value generates economic value so that communities can leverage shared knowledge to develop sustainable solutions.
- People are at the center of our research and design process in an open innovation approach.
- We come together to challenge inequality via impact innovation.
